

The BLUES Go Birding Across America

Make the Most of Resources

Be sure to visit the Web sites listed in the back of the book for interesting information and great ideas about how to have more fun with birds. Some of these resources include:

Cornell Lab of Ornithology—Provides wonderful resources for kids, families, and teachers.

www.birds.cornell.edu

All About Birds is the lab's online guide to birds and bird watching www.allaboutbirds.org

National Audubon Society—Local chapters around the country sponsor bird walks, nature outings, educational programs, and special events. There are many great resources available online.

www.adubon.org

American Birding Association—programs for young birders including camps, scholarships, contests, and newsletters. www.aba.org

The Birdwatchers Digest—A magazine filled with how-to tips, bird identification, gardening to attract birds, and more. www.birdwatchersdigest.com

For more teaching activities for The BLUES Go Birding visit www.dawnpub.com.